

Announcing Pay Cycle Changes Effective January 1, 2019

FT OPE, FT LABORERS and GARDENERS, FT PUBLIC SAFETY:

In an effort to further improve business efficiencies and align with best practices, effective Jan. 1, 2019, all university employees, other than full-time faculty members, will be paid semi-monthly in arrears, meaning that each employee will be paid for the actual days worked after the work has occurred.

Why are the pay cycles changing?

With this change, the university will be able to provide increased transparency. The new pay cycle will also help streamline the university's time-keeping systems, keep vacation and sick leave balances current, and increase timesheet accuracy. These pay changes are in accordance with applicable payroll guidelines.

What is the new pay cycle?

- As a reminder, employees are currently paid regular and exception pay on the 1st and the 15th of every month.
- Going forward, employees will be paid regular and exception pay on the 7th and the 22nd of every month.
- The first payday in 2019 will be on Jan. 22, 2019.

Pay Period	New Payment Date
1 st through the 15 th	22 nd of the same Month*
16 th through the last day of the month	7 th of the next Month*

*Note: If the 7th or the 22nd fall on a weekend or official holiday, payment will occur on the preceding business day.

How will the transition affect my pay in December and January?

- As in years past, you will be paid early on Dec. 21, 2018 - the university's last business day of the year - for your regular pay, Dec. 15 through Dec. 31, and for overtime & vacation pay for Dec. 6 through Dec. 20.
- Your first paycheck for 2019 will occur on Jan. 22, 2019, seven calendar days later than you were previously paid in January 2018. On Jan. 22, 2019, you will receive regular and exception pay for Jan. 1 through Jan. 15, 2019 as well as exception pay for Dec. 21 through Dec. 31, 2018.

What if I need help managing the transition?

- To assist employees with the transition, the university is offering two supplemental pay options:
 1. Vacation Cash Out: Cash out up to seven vacation days (going into negative vacation days is permitted for this one-time option) to be included in the Dec. 21, 2018 paycheck.
 - Applicable income and employment taxes will be withheld from the vacation cash out payment and the amount will be included as taxable income on your 2018 IRS Form W-2.
 - You must decide if you want to take advantage of this option and complete the necessary paperwork by Nov. 1, 2018.

-OR-

Announcing Pay Cycle Changes Effective January 1, 2019

2. Interest Free Loan: An interest free loan of $3,000 paid in December 2018 to help transition to the new payroll cycle.
 - Repayment will be collected in equal installments from your paychecks throughout the remainder of the 2019 calendar year beginning with the Jan. 22, 2019 paycheck and ending with the Jan. 7, 2020 paycheck.
 - You must decide if you want to take advantage of this option and complete the necessary paperwork by Nov. 1, 2018.
- The Pay Cycle Calculator has been created by Payroll to help employees determine the best supplemental pay option for their needs and is located on the Payroll home page on myUSF. Please note, the Pay Cycle Calculator provides only an estimate of your pay based on certain inputs provided by you. Please consult with your own personal financial or tax advisor if you have questions regarding the supplemental pay options or tax issues related thereto.
- The University will provide independent financial planners during the fall semester to help you budget for the change in the payroll cycle. More information on scheduling an appointment will be forthcoming. Unfortunately, the university cannot provide employees with personal tax advice.

Next steps:

- Remember: If you do not choose one of the options above, you will, by default, have chosen not to receive any financial assistance during this pay cycle transition.
- Since this change may impact your cash flow, review your budget and financial obligations and contact your financial institutions and other related businesses ahead of time. If necessary, make adjustments as needed to ensure your bill payment schedules align with the new pay dates.
- Consider making an appointment with one of the university provided independent financial planners during fall semester.
- Use the Pay Cycle Calculator to forecast estimated earnings during the 2019 calendar year based on your choice of a vacation cash out or an interest free loan.
- If necessary, consult with your personal tax advisor.
- Make your election and submit your paperwork no later than Nov. 1, 2018. No late elections or paperwork will be accepted.

Resources:

- The following resources are available on the Payroll home page:
 - Pay Cycle Calculator to forecast the estimated impact of the vacation cash out or interest free loan
 - Pay Cycle FAQ
 - Web forms and printable forms
- Contact payroll@usfca.edu if you have additional questions.