This year's enrollment period is a perfect time to review your life insurance coverage options. And, purchasing life insurance at work may get you a great deal.

Take advantage of group rates.

Enrolling in life insurance during this year's enrollment period could offer you a cheaper rate than if you purchased coverage on your own. In addition, if you leave your current employer, you can take this coverage with you.

Guaranteed issue.

During this year's open enrollment, all eligible employees may increase or elect voluntary life insurance coverage up to a guaranteed maximum amount of 3 times your salary, up to a maximum of $400,000 without having to answer any medical questions.

Convenient payroll deduction.

The convenience of payroll deductions is something you may only find when purchasing coverage through your employer. Unlike purchasing coverage on your own, you won't have to make a separate payment, giving you one less thing to worry about.
