USF School of Law
Spring 2019 – First Assignment

Course:
Remedies

Professor:
Michelle Travis

Course Materials:

First Assignment:
Read Parts A & B on pages 3-7. As you do the reading, please consider the following questions for our class discussion:

1. What do you think are the most typical reasons or motives that drive parties to pursue civil litigation? Can all of those objectives be met with the basic forms of judicial remedies that are available?

2. What are the primary differences between "legal remedies" and "equitable remedies"?

Additional Notes:
I look forward to having you in Remedies class. The seat that you select during our first class will become your assigned seat for the semester. Please do not sit in the back two rows of the classroom.

If you have not already done so for another class, please register for CALI online exercises at http://www.cali.org/use/register using the student authorization code SANFRNstu183 (which is case sensitive).
