Gurminder K Bhambra is Professor of Postcolonial and Decolonial Studies in the School of Global Studies, University of Sussex and is a Fellow of the British Academy. She is author of Connected Sociologies (Bloomsbury, 2014) and the award-winning Rethinking Modernity: Postcolonialism and the Sociological Imagination (Palgrave, 2007). She is co-editor of Decolonising the University (Pluto Press, 2018) and has spoken regularly on the crisis for refugees in Europe and on questions of citizenship in the light of Brexit.