  - There are opportunities for growth and are looking for someone to lead this organization. It is something missing currently but they are open to helping get this started.

2. There are multiple senators that are trying to start resource centers on campus. In your experience at other institutions, what would you say to our students that are working towards this initiative?
  - There can be centers that exist at the same time as the intercultural centers and her goal is to situate the groups working towards a center so that when the space is ready the groups are all ready to make that transition.
3. What collaboration have you observed between the Cultural Centers and Senate in the past?
  - Previously, the Student of Color representative attended the CFCC meetings and served office hours in the cultural center to hear from constituents that are present in the center.
4. There have been instances where students felt that there was insufficient action taken by BERT. What is the procedure for action taken following a report?
  - There are conversations that aim to discuss the issue and follow up on completed reports to try and improve this system. They are open to feedback and suggestions from students.

Meeting concluded without adjournment with early departure from representatives resulting in no longer meeting quorum.
