

Matthew Chivvis '07

MATTHEW CHIVVIS received a Bachelor's Degree in Biochemistry from the University of Wyoming in 2004. Shortly after, he earned his Juris Doctorate from the University of San Francisco School of Law in 2007.

Currently, Matthew is a Partner in the Intellectual Property Group of Morrison & Foerster LLP in San Francisco, where he specializes in life sciences and technology litigation. He joined the firm in 2008 after clerking for Chief Judge James Ware of the Northern District of California (ret.).

His work in this area includes litigation, pre-litigation, and inter partes review proceedings involving monoclonal antibodies, immunoconjugates, vaccines, nutritional supplements, bioabsorbable implants, drug-eluting stents, blood glucose monitoring devices, plant genetics, and animal husbandry. He knows the ins and outs of the "patent dance" in Biologics Price Competition and Innovation Act (BPCIA) proceedings, and has advised clients on successful strategies for engaging in multi-phased BPCIA litigation.

Jophiel Philips '11

JOPHIEL PHILIPS was born and raised in Queens, New York. Jophiel received his Bachelor's Degree from Stony Brook University.

After Stony Brook, he attended Wesleyan University, where he obtained a Master's Degree in Sociology. He then earned his Juris Doctorate from the University of San Francisco School of Law in 2011. Upon passing the New York and New Jersey Bar exams, Jophiel commissioned into the United States Air Force and has been an Active-Duty Judge Advocate General for the past ten years.

As a JAG, he held a variety of positions such as advising the United States Special Operations Command during Operation Resolute Support in Afghanistan and working sexual assault and domestic violence cases as a Special Victims Counsel. Most recently, Jophiel was stationed at Joint Base Andrews, Maryland, where he conducted review boards on behalf of the Secretary of the Air Force.
